08/09/11 — Federal government to file administrative record on Aug. 26

The federal government is scheduled to file on August 26 the administrative record for the National Toxicology Program (NTP) actions with regard to the listing of styrene in the 12th Report on Carcinogens. But it is unclear to the Styrene Information and Research Center (SIRC) what, in the government's view, constitutes that administrative record. For that reason, SIRC has served on the U.S. Department of Justice a "Request for the Production of Documents" with the goal of ensuring that all of the materials relevant to the NTP's proceedings and related Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Control actions are part of the docket before the court. The requested materials relate to issues raised in SIRC's complaint and during the preliminary injunction hearing on July 5.
