10/05/11 Court grants SIRC motion to stay briefing schedule

The U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia today issued an order granting the Styrene Information and Research Center's (SIRC's) October 4 "Motion to Stay the Briefing Schedule..." in SIRC's legal challenge to the listing of styrene in the 12th Report on Carcinogens. The Order stays summary judgment briefing until the Court rules on SIRC's Motion to Complete the Record. After that ruling, the parties are to confer about a new briefing schedule. The order further directs SIRC and the federal government to submit a joint proposed briefing schedule within five days after the Court's ruling on SIRC's pending "Motion to Complete the Administrative Record."
